Hey Luke,

I've been a regular attendee/speaker/volunteer of Fall Sourcecons for several years and I know we've shaken hands before. I thought since we were both in the fraternity that is SourceCon that I could pick your brain a little.

I'm looking to conduct some benchmarking. We are evaluating our TA tools and are curious which technologies are considered standard, especially in the retail industry.

Would you have 10 minutes either today or tomorrow to chat with me about your experience with Target Talent Acquisition?

Please forgive the short timeline but hopefully it's not too inconvenient for a really quick call.

Thanks in advance,

Other Considerations

- ✓ Don't have an obscure job title or "insider speak"
- ✓ Include a picture, video is even better  YouTube
- ✓ Keep it simple and relatable
- ✓ Include links to other pages: company info, career site, social media
- ✓ Have your hiring manager share the job post and speak about the position
- ✓ Have your colleagues

"Recruiter Centric Talent Sourcing Model"

- ✓ The Recruiter is at the front of the process
- ✓ "Take my word for it"
- ✓ Manager plays secondary role
- ✓ Screening calls
- ✓ Rigid process

"Waterfall" Process

"Manager Centric Talent Sourcing Model"

- ✓ Manager plays a major role
- ✓ "Let me show you"
- ✓ Recruiter plays a supporting role
- ✓ Limited "screening calls"
- ✓ There is still an interview process, but the sourcing methods vary per candidate needs

are more likely to respond
if the hiring manager reaches out instead
